Our Mission:

We're Pulse Athletica, an emerging contemporary dancewear brand dedicated to exceeding the active-wear needs of pre-professional, highly motivated dancers. We strongly believe that in order to feel your best in the studio, on stage, or on set, you need to look your best - and that's where we come in!

Pulse Athletica stands for enhancing an athlete's performance by enabling them to prepare for auditions, clinics, intensives, and prep classes with confidence! Our brand takes pride in harnessing a clean, fresh, and modern look for dancers looking to stand out amongst others.

The brand infuses fashion with function to prove that dancers do not have to compromise style for performance quality, especially in the competitive field of professional and commercial dance.

As a medium-sized brand, based out of our Los Angeles office, we are rapidly growing our consumer base. Started by a former collegiate dancer, Pulse Athletica has connections to college dance teams and pre-professional dance groups across California. Some celebrity clients in the past have included Tate McCrae, Olivia Rodrigo, and Maddie Ziegler.

"Feel Your Pulse", our brand's motto, is a reminder to all dancers to tap into their inner drive, pursuing new opportunities by saying "yes" to the uncomfortable, and always remembering that the power to excel is already contained within you.
